

You work for a company which take their clients on camping tours. You are asked to make a webpage regarding their upcoming trip.

Before starting do consider skimming through the reference provided at the end of the document, and feel free to use it anytime! Incase you get stuck, the walkthrough is in the next lecture. Happy coding!

1. Make a fresh webpage
2. At the top of the webpage, insert (using the largest HTML heading) the following text “A WEEK'S CAMPING TRIP”.
3. Below the heading insert an image of Mount Everest, resize the image's width to 300 pixels and height to 350 pixels.
4. Then, nest a paragraph and insert/type some text related to Mount Everest. Tip: Use Wikipedia
5. Insert a horizontal rule line
6. Insert the second largest HTML heading with the following text “What's included”
7. After that insert an ordered list about the things that the company would provide (food, sleeping bags, tents)
8. Insert a line break
9. Insert the second largest HTML heading with the following text “What we would not be responsible for”
10. Next that insert an unordered list about the things that the company would not be responsible (Clothing, loss of personal belongings)
11. Insert a horizontal rule line
12. Insert a line break
13. Make a table about the 3 organizers, with their first names, ages and contact numbers (All these details are for practice purposes, meaning you can type any names, ages, and contact numbers)
14. Give the table a width of 25%, and a border of 6 pixels

15. Insert a paragraph with the following text “Click here to view more pictures of mount Everest”
 16. Make another webpage, and save it as “webpage 2”
 17. Insert 3 pictures of mount Everest (don’t forget to save the webpage after you are done)
 18. Make the text Click here of the first webpage, a link to “webpage 2”.
 19. Make the text “view more pictures”, bold, italic and underlined
 20. Change the title of the page to “Camp with us”
